I. Call to Order

A quorum being present, Vice Chair Elizabeth Hamilton called the Historic Preservation Commission (HPC or Commission) meeting to order at 6:30 p.m.

The minutes from the HPC regular meeting on October 8, 2019 were accepted as amended via motion.

Ruth Fountain Memorial is scheduled for December 12, 2019 at 2:00 p.m. at the Aurora Municipal Center in the City Council Chambers. HPC Commissioners are encouraged to attend.

II. Staff Report

Historic Preservation Specialist Drake Brownfield gave his report to the Commission.

Section 106 reviews: No historic properties affected.
HPC Commissioners: Lynne Evans & Barbara Henk were appointed to the HPC at the November 4, 2019 City Council meeting.

Loafing Shed: The Loafing shed rehabilitation is progressing. The revised cost is $186,000.

Coal Creek School: The interior and exterior of Coal Creek School has been painted.

War Mother’s House: A court summons was served. The court date is December 12, 2019. There is a mandatory fine. If the owner does not show up for court an arrest warrant will be issued. If the owner demonstrates an effort to make repairs the fine could be suspended. Darke received a call from the owner who stated that a 20% tax credit was not enough. Drake contacted HUD to see about options. There are 25-30 code violations. Volunteer work is a possible option, but this would need to wait until weather permits. There is the possibility of help with yard clean-up, fence work/repair, support porch, and postpone painting until spring. The city attorney stated that the HPC could contact the owner to show support. Commissioner Geddes offered to attend the court hearing. Drake will research what will happen, and the HPC can respond accordingly.

Gully House: A window was broken at Gully House on November 4, 2019. The estimated cost for tempered storm windows is $6,000. City facilities is interested in doing windows to protect wood sash windows, and possibly an alarm system with camera setup to see who is doing this. The city would monitor and police check the premises.

Budget: $1,952 reaming after Coal Creek Flooring, landmark and homeowner meeting.
