Update Performing Arts Feasibility Study – Andrea Amonick
- There is an ongoing initiative in the Department of Library and Cultural Services to redo their Cultural Facilities Master Plan. This would include the performing arts venues that BAB is interested in as they relate to economic development.
- To avoid duplicative, staff put the request for funding for the Performing Arts Feasibility Study on hold. Staff met with the Library and Cultural Services, and BAB was invited to provide input as a stakeholder in the community and participate in the initiative.
- In a meeting with CM Gardner, it was decided that there was still a desire to move forward with the feasibility study apart from the master planning efforts of Library and Cultural Services.
Mr. Walls stated that he is waiting on CM Gardner’s official response to see what direction he wants BAB to take. He added that Ms. Pace, Ms. Woodson, and Ms. Horiuchi also expressed a desire to participate.

Ms. Pace mentioned that she wants to participate as an active dancer in the Denver scene and to introduce more of the cultural part to Aurora. She added that several dancers live in Aurora but are dancing in Denver.

Ms. Amonick encouraged Ms. Pace to participate in and promote dance of all types, not necessarily as a BAB member. She added that there would be public meetings that would get the community involved. She stated that the group gathering places, such as performing arts venues, require subsidies to run and operate. They are also opportunities to bring in out-of-town dollars. Ms. Amonick suggested waiting for the master planning to be underway to get a sense of what the community is thinking since if a bond or debt financing is required for the facility, the people would have to vote for it. She added that the 2023 budget is already being passed, and it may be advisable to wait until after it passes to get support from Council to allocate money for the study. She stressed that the final analysis would rest on what the community and Council think. She reiterated the suggestion to lag the original proposed schedule to let the master plan move forward and build a constituency for their ask.

Mr. Walls mentioned that CM Gardner might not want to wait and stressed that he wants to move forward quickly with an ask on an economic impact study, which is outside the bounds of what the citizenry thinks. He added that CM Gardner wants to understand the opportunity available regardless of any community feedback or direction from the city. He said that the scope is different from what the city is doing, and CM Gardner views this as a foundational step for a consultant to do a basic market study and understand the different areas of Aurora. CM Gardner may also be willing to go forward with a resolution.

Ms. Amonick said that they would meet with Library and Cultural Services to regroup and work on the scope of the study to understand the separation between the two processes. She mentioned that waiting until January for a presentation will allow a couple of months to create a solid scope.

Mr. Walls said that it would depend on the direction that CM Gardner decides to take, whether it is a resolution directly to Council, a direction to staff, or a direction through BAB.

Ms. Amonick said that she would be in contact with Ms. Clark and Ms. Perry. She added that the process would identify the gaps in the provision of cultural services and the types of focus that there should be. She mentioned that some centers, such as the Arvada Center, are heavily publicly subsidized and are bringing in regional and statewide acts but not local. This is also currently done in the arts district, with the largest venue having 250 seats.

Ms. Amonick asked for the schedule of the meetings.

Ms. Amonick said that the ask for the Venue Management Expert panel is November 8th or 9th, where experts on facility designing and operations will be brought in. The Ambassador group will do a follow-up session to answer questions and provide feedback. All stakeholders will be invited to participate in a one-day planning workshop on November 14th, 15th, 17th, or 18th.

Ms. Horiuchi mentioned that the Stampede also brings global entertainers and packs the whole house. She added that she wants to include the Stampede and is working to include other business stakeholders, such as the El Salvadoran Consulate and the future satellite venue for the Colorado Golf Association. She addressed Ms. Pace and mentioned they are looking for community members to teach some classes.

Mr. Walls mentioned that he has a list of questions he will send to Ms. Perry regarding the key stakeholders in the community and venue owners’ roles in the process and who will be participating in the workshops.

Ms. Amonick asked if Mr. Walls sent out the invite to let others know the dates.
Mr. Walls explained that he has yet to send the letters since CM Gardner asked him to hold off.

Small Business Grant Program Update – Elena Vasconez
- On January 2022, City Council approved $2.5 million in ARPA funds to support 250 small businesses recovering from the pandemic. The funding provides $5,000 for post-pandemic startups and $10,000 for existing businesses. The program was promoted citywide through various platforms and media outlets. Businesses had to show a net revenue of less than $350,000 and gross sales of less than $5 million. Business owners had to demonstrate that the pandemic impacted them and that they are recovering.
- Three hundred twenty applications from different industries, such as goods, retail, childcare, manufacturing, and service industries, were received and screened. Since only 250 applicants were covered, staff requested Council to approve extra funds to cover all applications. A request for $700,000 in additional ARPA funds was approved by City Council. Currently, 77 applications for payment have been reviewed, and staff disbursed approximately $500,000.
- 39% of applications were female-owned businesses, and 62% were minority-owned. Staff members approve and fund applications weekly and are working to have all applications approved by the end of 2022. They will follow up with a final report.
- A safety and security grant update may be scheduled for the next meeting.

Ms. Horiuchi thanked staff for their work on behalf of businesses and asked if the list of businesses awarded would be disclosed.

Ms. Amonick said it takes two to three weeks to get the check, which includes time for approval, the loan, and the signing of the audit agreement. They are expecting to be done at the end of the year. A list will be released as public information. This timeline includes the approval, the loan and audit agreement signing, and cutting checks.

Mr. Walls said stakeholders who have yet to receive updates should stay tuned.

Ms. Amonick added that they review applications on a first-come, first-serve basis. They may have enough money to provide to all applicants if they are eligible. Those rejected are small in percentage and include businesses that did not meet deadlines, closed, and pulled out.

Mr. Walls mentioned that he has three clients who went through the safety and security grant process and have not received a response since the police visited.

Ms. Amonick said that there is an assessment, and the businesses should get a list of items the money can be spent on as part of the award.

Ms. Vasquez added that there is a backlog with having businesses sign with contractors. She mentioned that they are also trying to get new contractors.

Mr. Walls asked for the link to the program.

Ms. Vasquez stated that individuals could send requests for help through the ARPA email.

Ms. Amonick mentioned that they are thrilled to provide assistance to businesses.

The presentation will include the scope of the study. BAB members can bring up items that were not addressed by the study.
